Hello & welcome

Winter is upon us again.

It's time to prepare your skin for the colder months. Lock in moisture by using hydrating products to replenish and protect the skin to prevent dehydration and premature aging. Dryness can be addressed by exfoliation treatments such as peels and microdermabrasion. Nothing penetrates a hard skin! Microdermabrasion is Bootcamp or Gym for the skin by removing dead skin cells and keeping the collagen exercised. Many spend so much time and effort on exercise the muscles of their body and consuming vitamins orally but forget their about skin.

We are entering the "Age of Ageless"

By Laura Demasi Ipos research director - August 2016

the age of agelessness

- Longer life span means a greater emphasis on "optimal living"; greater emphasis on quality of life
- Increased leisure time—more time to research and discover products, more time to absorb knowledge, more time to enjoy life
- Staying in the labor force longer—unemployment rate for boomers is lower than their younger counterparts

Sixty-plus Australians are already redefining what it means to grow older, rejecting outdated expectations for how they 'should' live and what they 'should' value - including how they spend their time and money. But are marketers in tune with the new reality of ageing?

Australians over 65 will account for 25% of the overall population in coming decades. Today's over 45s can expect to live up to a quarter of their entire lifespan in retirement.

Age is now merely a 'number,' an almost arbitrary figure, something that society imposes on you that comes with unwelcome baggage and expectations; suddenly at 60, 65, 70 or the rest of the world assumes that you have become a completely different person - an 'old' person who no longer has the same interests, tastes, skills or values - or indeed the same personality.

"We are not like our parents, whose generation was very sedentary in retirement. We don't want to be still, there is too much to do," said another participant. "I go out dancing with my girlfriends, I like to have a drink. My mother didn't do any of that when she was my age. It's an exciting time, lots of possibilities. It's never too late for new opportunities."
